

Dominion
It all starts here.®

Larry responded to a call. To repair a country.

America called, and 25-year Dominion veteran Larry Shelton answered, shipping off to Iraq with the U.S. Army's 463rd Engineer Combat Battalion to help rebuild its infrastructure. Virginia-based Dominion, an energy company serving millions of people in more than 20 states, supports Larry – just as we do all Dominion employees who serve their country – by covering the difference between his pay here and his duties abroad. It's the least we could do. Larry's back in Virginia, safe and sound, thank goodness, and back to his meter-reading job. We're proud that Larry's our co-worker. Thank you, Larry, and thanks to all who wear the uniform. Thanks for reminding us what service is really about.

You can learn more about Dominion at www.dom.com